Deadlines and Publication Schedule

Advertising submission deadlines for each issue are firm and must be met to ensure placement and inclusion. However, Canadian Mortgage Broker reserves the right to make reasonable adjustments to these deadlines or to the publication schedule if required by production, editorial, or distribution considerations.

In the event that a deadline or circulation date must be changed, advertisers will be notified as soon as possible, and every effort will be made to minimize any impact on planned campaigns.

Terms & Conditions

All advertising is subject to approval by the publisher. Canadian Mortgage Broker reserves the right to refuse, revise, or postpone any advertisement that does not comply with publication standards or technical requirements.

Materials received after the published deadlines may be accepted at the publisher's discretion and only if space and production timelines permit. Late submission may result in changes to placement or deferred publication without liability to the publisher. The publisher is not responsible for schedule changes or delays arising from factors beyond its control, including but not limited to technical issues, production constraints, or unforeseen circumstances.
